

If only I had...

Genty Marshall has carved a name for herself in Europe as an accurate trends forecaster, offering detailed advice on the next big things in homewares and design for industry. Now based in Australia as president of her company The New Black, she is the trends forecaster for Decoration + Design, on in Melbourne later this month.

Back track ... One of my most coveted pieces in the last two years has been the seating collection by Doshi Levien for Moroso and aptly named My Beautiful Backside. My Beautiful Backside by Doshi Levien for Moroso, POA, from Hub Furniture.

True hearth ... The family home has an Aga and when I visit, it is the first place I go. I learnt to cook because I always loved to be in the kitchen. Aga GE four-oven gas $21,730, from Aga Australia.

Fest feast ... An all-access pass to the Glastonbury Festival. There's nothing like getting carried away by the music and madness of a good festival. The crowds and mud are no place for a mobile phone so you are forced to immerse yourself completely. I'd love to get to Glastonbury. 2011 Glastonbury tickets were about $300.
